

PatientIdentifier has a method identify that takes the incoming patient record. The method then uses the IdentityManager to check whether it is a report of a patient which exists, using the id (in the case where it doesn't, the identity manager displays a warning message). If the patient exists the patient in question is found thanks to the map that is available. The method then returns the Patient.

1..*

has

uses

has

1

has